WRITTEN OPINION OF THE
INTERNATIONAL SEARCHING AUTHORITY

International application No.
PCT/US05/03683

Box No. V Reasoned statement under Rule 43 bis.1(a)(i) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims NONE	YES
	Claims 1-26	NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims NONE	YES
	Claims 1-26	NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims 1-26	YES
	Claims NONE	NO

2. Citations and explanations:

Claims 1-26 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over Tabor et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,372,885).

Tabor teaches bicomponent fibers that are made from a thermoplastic high performance component and a linear polyethylene grafted with maleic anhydride. Col. 4, lines 34-58 and col. 5, lines 45-67. In col. 6, lines 61-62, Tabor teaches that pigments may be added to the polymer blend. This would include titanium dioxide, a common pigment. In col. 8, lines 42-60, Tabor teaches that the bicomponent fibers are made into a batt and are blended with natural or synthetic fibers such as polyester or cotton. The properties of the batt set forth in the present claims would be inherent due to the materials used in the batt. The amounts and properties of the different components would have been obvious modifications to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention depending on the particular end use of the batts produced.

Claims 1-6, 10-19, and 23-25 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over Sawyer et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,082,899).

Sawyer teaches bicomponent fibers that are made from a thermoplastic high performance component and a linear polyethylene grafted with maleic anhydride. Col. 4, lines 18-30. In col. 7, lines 36-53, Sawyer teaches that the bicomponent fibers are made into a batt and are blended with natural or synthetic fibers such as polyester or cotton. The properties of the batt set forth in the present claims would be inherent due to the materials used in the batt. The amounts and properties of the different components would have been obvious modifications to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention depending on the particular end use of the batts produced.

Claims 1-26 meet the criteria set out in PCT Article 33(4), and thus have industrial applicability because the subject matter claimed can be made or used in industry.
